

K-WERK

THE SUSTAINABLE POWER BANK FROM BUSCH + MÜLLER

K-WERK is the Kraftwerk! An impressively performant sustainable power bank that is charged via the hub-dynamo on a normal bicycle. Ideal for charging smart-phones, GPS systems and other mobile devices via the micro-USB-port. Fully charged, this power bank can provide 5000 mAh.

From now on, your own muscle power is as sustainable as wind or solar energy - and while cycling, this kit is the most efficient way by far to provide a practical source of energy. The trick behind the magic is that when connected to your dynamo, the K-WERK will use the dynamo rotation from your pedal energy to continually charge up.

Full of numerous practical features: The K-WERK can be charged at the same time as it supplies other mobile devices with energy. Off the pedals, the K-WERK can also be charged from the mains or Notebook through the same USB-port. 5 integrated blue LED's indicate the charge level in 20% steps so that you always have your remaining energy in view. To ensure there are no stowage problems, the K-WERK is attached with a flexible Velcro strap.

Power for your High-Beam: Furthermore, the K-WERK is also perfectly matched to the IQ-XM Speed from Busch + Müller. With up to 120 Lux in low beam, and 170 Lux in high beam mode, the combination of K-WERK/IQ-XM Speed can turn the night into light in the most sustainable way.

With K-WERK as a mobile source of renewable energy, Busch + Müller has a new product in its friendly range, and as such, it is part of Busch + Müllers comprehensive sustainability concept: from the initial product ideas and resource-conserving production methods, sustainable product features, right through to product end of life considerations, Busch + Müller is ecologically friendly through and through.
